INTERFACULTY CHAMPIONSHIP TO MEDICINE

Med. Harriers Beat Science by Two Points

GOFORTH FIRST

Still Several Harrier Events Before End of Season

Medicine won the Interfaculty Harrier Championship on Saturday morning from Science by the narrow margin of two points. No other faculty had a full team of four men across the finishing line after the strenuous run over the usual Long Course, a distance of five point six miles. W. W. Goforth, Arts, the new individual champion, led the field of over twenty from the crack of the pistol, and finished with an ample lead over Rubin, Intercollegiate one-mile champion for the last two years.

One of the surprising features of the race was the fact that men new to the Harrier game finished among the first. Rubin, who gained second place, had never been over the course before, while Airey, fourth man in, was another with very little long distance experience. Of course, both of these men have been prominent in track circles for several years, but their achievements show, as Coach Van Wagner pointed out, that there may be many good runners at McGill who have never thought of joining the Harriers. If only everybody, the Coach continued, would turn out, and see what ability he might have in this direction, many excellent long distance men would doubtless be developed.

Over twenty men started on the hard run about eleven-thirty Saturday morning. Above the Royal Victoria Hospital on Pine Avenue, the runners, who had kept in a group for the first quarter mile, began to separate, and by the time the leaders had reached the top of the Serpentine, the tail end of the procession was several hundred yards in the rear. Along the road to the bridge path, the first three or four men kept well together but the remainder "straggled" over a long distance. Around the dirt track to the park side travelled the punting competitors until the down-grade to Park Avenue gave an opportunity of regaining breath and strength.

By the time the small reservoir on the homeward journey was passed, one or two men had been forced out of the race, but the majority reached Park Avenue, which they followed to Pine, thence up the slope to the Stadium, a final turn and a half about the track completing the distance. Wally Goforth of Arts covered the route in thirty three and a half minutes, Rubin, in second place, taking thirty four minutes twenty seconds, and Brain, next man in, an added half minute.

The first men to finish the whole course were:

1. Goforth (A).
2. Rubin (M).
3. Brain (S).
4. Airey (S).
5. Clement (M).
6. Boness (D).
7. Brodie (M).
8. Kerr (S).
9. Elliot (M).
10. Calder (S).
11. Grimson (C).

CERCLE WILL HOLD DEBATE ON DANCING

Meeting of Cercle Francais at Union

TO-NIGHT AT 8

Topic: Resolved That Dancing is Immoral

There will be a meeting of the Cercle Francais this evening at eight-fifteen o'clock in the Music Room of the Union. The chief item on the programme is a debate on the subject, Resolved "That dancing is immoral". The affirmative is to be upheld by J. Bogante of Arts '26 and Puddicombe, B. A., of Law '26; Helal of Law '26 and Mousseau, B. A., of Law '27 will present the negative point of view. Refreshments will be served, and all men students at McGill are invited to attend.

The last meeting of the Cercle Francais was the first one of this session, and it was better attended than any other commencement meeting of this society. The members all gave short speeches introducing themselves, in which each one told his name and in what class of the university he was, as well as his future plans. Refreshments were served afterwards in one of the cafeteria rooms and the evening was declared a tremendous success.

The future of the Cercle Francais is assured—for this year at least. The students who are interested in French are showing a decided interest and the enterprising executive has a large amount of initiative, which has exhibited itself in a comprehensive programme for the year. Until Christmas there will be no meeting each week. Not among the least of the projected activities of the Cercle Francais are two projected meetings with the R. V. C. French society, which goes by the name of Societe Francaise.

The French Department, including under this term Professors Du Roure, Villard, the honorary president of the club, and Mowat, the new French instructor, as well as Mr. Roche, plan to attend the meetings of this session regularly. They have further given the executive the fullest co-operation, and they have promised to do the same this year.

The Cercle Francais is an excellent social medium, as well as a pedagogical scheme for improvement in the French language and debating. This evening's meeting, it is hoped, will be representative of the usual high standard.

MR. CAMERON TO BE HEARD BY CHEMICALS

The Chemical Industry Club will meet on Tuesday at 2:30 p. m. at the Chemistry Building Mr. Cameron, Superintendent of the Forest Products Laboratories has kindly consented to address the Club on the processes involved in Paper-making and on the features of the plant at the laboratories. After Mr. Cameron's address the Laboratories will be visited.

All members and prospective members are requested to attend especially as paper-making is such an important chemical industry in the country. Even though it may not be possible for some to attend Mr. Cameron's address it will be worth their while paying a visit to the plant which will be visited about 4:15 p. m.

SOCCER TEAM ONCE AGAIN VICTORIOUS

Defeated Verdun Association Football Club

SCORE 1-0

Game Was Fast, Condition Being Responsible for Triumph

The McGill Soccer team added another victory to its unbroken record when the Verdun Association Football Club was defeated on Saturday by a 1-0 score. Although the weather was sufficiently warm to make playing uncomfortable, the game was fast, and it was the splendid condition of the men that enabled them to vanquish their hardy opponents. Not for one moment of the hour and a half did the play become loose, for the Verdun players were determined to increase the lead. They were prevented from doing so, through the strenuous efforts of the Verdun centre-half and fullbacks and to these men goes the credit of saving their side from an overwhelming defeat. The lone goal of the match was scored late in the first half, and was the result of a series of passes in front of the goal.

The team that represented the University was not the regular first team several men being unable to play, but their absence did not greatly affect the game, as the men who played had the play always well in hand. There was a generous amount of charging, but on no occasion was there any foul play, and the method of obtaining the ball was used only as a last resort. The McGill half-line were in wonderful form, and the highest praise that can be given them is that they never give up. They are steady and support the forwards ably, and it is hard to see how any improvement can be made in the line up of this department in the team. Easterbrook, in goal, turned in a stellar game, combining excellent judgment with utter fearlessness, which brought him through many a tight pinch.

This makes the fourth consecutive victory for the Club, and when the team faces the Nomads, who are fourth in "A" division of the Montreal Senior League, it is expected that the Red and White colours will have again triumphed when the final whistle blows. This can be done only through gruelling practice this week, and every member of the first and second teams is asked to be present at the practice. These men are asked to watch the Notice Column in the "Daily", and to appear whenever they are asked to do so. The Soccer slogan this week should be "Maintain our unbroken record of victories."

The following was the line-up, on Saturday:—Easterbrook, Goal; Taylor, Holand, Archdale, Helwig, Schellier, Scott, Seaton, Moffatt, Balleney.

Referee, Mr. Henderson.

VARSITY CAPTURES GOLF CHAMPIONSHIP

Winners Displayed Fine Brand of Golf

The Italian trophy emblematic of the Intercollegiate golf championship was captured on Saturday by the Varsity players. The matches were played over the links at Beauport.

The Toronto players decisively defeated those of McGill, taking three out of the four singles on Friday and all three four-ommes on Saturday. Varsity was represented by a very strong team, numbering among its in the Canadian Golf Championship.

The outstanding were was that made by "Sandy" Somerville, he making a 78, which is an intercollegiate record for the course. In the foursomes the Carrick brothers paired together were forced to go the link to defeat the McGill pair, Hayen and Cameron. It was by far the best match of the day, the Torontonians finally coming out on top by the close score of three up and one to play.

The results in detail are as follows:—

D. Carrick and J. A. Carrick, Varsity defeated R. N. Hayen and J. A. Cameron, McGill, 3 and 1.
R. Somerville and J. A. Sullivan, Varsity, defeated A. W. Mitchell and L. G. Micklen Jr., McGill, 4 and 1.
Fred Lynn and J. C. Porter, Varsity, defeated W. B. Allan and M. B. Cochran, McGill, 5 and 3.

SCIENCE CLASSES TO HOLD DINNER

Science '08 and '16 Will Re-unite on November 15

Saturday evening, November 15th, 1924, at 7:30 p. m., the night of the Varsity game, will witness an innovation in the holding of Class Dinners, when members of the Science Classes of 1908 and 1916 will foregather at an informal dinner in the Windsor Station dining-room. Both of these classes have already held a number of well attended dinners and by combining, hope to be able to make an event which will long be remembered by those who attend it.

Dean H. N. MacKay, of the Science Faculty, and Dr. A. T. Bazin, President of the Graduated Society, will be the guests of the evening and will probably have some interesting things to tell.

A toast that is being prepared, and a few musical and humorous numbers are also being given.

Incidentally, the cost will only be two dollars.

In order to help the committee with their arrangements, those intending to attend are requested to communicate immediately with either:—

Gordon McL. Pitts, Sci. '08, Cr. Maxwell and Pitts, 360 Beaver Hall Hill, Montreal, Phone UP. 3282, or Stanley A. Neilson, Sci. '16, Cr. Walter J. Francis and Company, 260 St. James Street, Montreal, Phone, Main 5613.

MEMORIAL SERVICE FOR C. SUMMERS

Conducted at Presbyterian College To-night

A short and simple service in memory of Curran, W. Summers, a prominent student of Arts '26, who met a tragic death last June, will be held to-night at 7 p. m. in the David Morrice Hall, Presbyterian College, 67 Metcalfe Street. Principal Fraser and Donald Mac Vicar will deliver short addresses. Any friends of Mr. Summers especially those of Arts '26 are cordially invited to attend the service.

The late Mr. Summers died while actively engaged in the performance of his duties as missionary in Alberta. He did his missionary work among a mixed community and while riding over the prairies, his horse suddenly tripped over an old tree stump and Mr. Summers was thrown heavily to the ground. He was rushed in a critical condition to the hospital at Red Deer, Alta., where it was discovered that his leg had been severely fractured. Complications soon resulted and an operation was deemed necessary. He died while still under the anaesthetic. His body was brought back to Russell, Ont., where the burial took place.

ECONOMICS CLUB MEETING TUESDAY

British Election Issues Will be Discussed

The first meeting for the session of the Economics club will be held on Tuesday October 28, at 8:15 P. M. in the smoking room of the Arts Building. Two papers will be delivered by C. D. Everett, and Mr. Reilly respectively regarding the "Issues Involved in the Coming Elections in England." The discussion of this question at this time is peculiarly apt since the elections are held the following day. Those who attend the meeting will be sure of hearing excellent and well prepared papers by both Everett and Reilly as both have followed very closely the events leading up to the forthcoming elections.

After the formal papers the meeting will be thrown open for discussion. Dr. Leacock, the Honorary President and Dr. Hemmison the Honorary Vice-President as well as Doctor Day and Professor Farthing of the Department of Economics are expected to be present and will undoubtedly take part in the discussion which is sure to be both instructive and entertaining.

The Club which dates back to 1913 has always been one of the most active and popular around the college. Though intended primarily for students of the Department of Economics any other men interested in the subject under discussion will always be welcomed at any of the meetings.

RED AND WHITE WARRIORS HELD QUEEN'S CHAMPIONSHIP TEAM TO 13-8 SCORE IN HARD AND EXCITING GAME ON SATURDAY

McGill Team Put up Great Game — Man son Injured in Game — Game Was Gruelling One — All McGill Men Showed up Well — Leadley Kicked Two Drop Kicks — Hughes in Good Form — Each Team Made One Touch-down — Was Exciting Game for the 12,000 Spectators.

The 12,000 spectators that journeyed to the Stadium on Saturday got a rude jolt when the McGill Senior squad held the champion Queen's team to a 13 to 8 score. The crowd came fully expecting to see the Red and White warriors overwhelmed under a huge score, but figured that the McGill team would put up a fight worth watching. They did not see any one-sided score but they saw a fight that all of the 12,000 will say was worth watching. The Seniors fought the Tri-colour with furious determination and never once did they abate in their aggressiveness until the final whistle blew. That they were up against a great team they know, and they also realized that it was a fight to the finish. And fight they did. Two of the Queen's players were heard to remark after the game that they won because they had the breaks of the game. Queen's probably didn't get very many more breaks than McGill but they realized that their victory was a close one.

The lack of a drop kicker made itself felt in Saturday's game. On three occasions McGill were in possession before the Queen's goal posts and a drop kicker might have scored three points easily. However, when two straight bucks had failed, Hughes was forced to kick a rouse and was satisfied with one point. Queen's however were twice in a position to try a drop. Leadley promptly did and both were successful. It was the six points resulting from Leadley's stellar kicking that gave the Kingstonians the game. Both teams made a touchdown and both touches were equally spectacular. Queen's five points came by the end-run route, the same way that has accounted for their victories in the past. With wonderful exactness, an end run was begun, McKelvey carrying the ball round his own right end. Just as he was tackled he passed the ball to Leadley who was running at full speed behind him. The Queen's captain grabbed the ball in one hand and running like one of the whippets in the race at half time went over for a touch. It was one of the many great end runs that have made the Tri-colour team famous for the past two years.

HANNA WENT OVER
The touch made by the Red and White squad was equally exciting. In the fourth quarter, and faced with the Queen's back, the Red and White squad was equally excited. The stellar Queen's back did not seem sure of himself at any time and dropped over half a dozen of Hughes' kicks. This naturally was a very dangerous habit and luckily for the Queen's team they did not prove costly for them. Some of the other Queen's men juggled the ball on different occasions and at times certainly did not look like Dominion Champions. The snap contributed his share by firing the ball over Leadley's head on one occasion. The McGill backs did not fumble more than twice and each time Joe Cameron rolled on the ball.

Batstone-Leadley Combination.
Batstone was certainly off form in catching but he was certainly the contrary when it came to carrying the ball. The famous Batstone-Leadley combination was in great form and resulted in many long gains. However the touchdown came as a result of a pass that Leadley received from McKelvey, the latter showing up particularly well during the game, when Batstone was injured, a new man by the name of Chantler went on in his place and the very next time went around the end for a 30 yard run. Chantler played a good game in Batstone's place and was equally good in end running, while his catching was much superior to that of the star back. Queen's will have an exceptionally good back ready to step into Leadley's shoes when he graduates next year and this man is Chantler. The Queen's captain of course played a brilliant game and as has been said kicked two beautiful drop kicks. Both were from the thirty yard line and were well placed. Leadley also kicked two rouses and was consistent throughout the game.

LINE IMPROVED.

The remodelled McGill line showed a remarkable improvement. Captain Little played a great game at outside as did Philpotts at the other end. Both men got down under the kicks fast, and every time the Queen's back was downed in his tracks. Boucher and J. McCombe didn't let anything get by them on the inside and played a great game. Bob McCombe and Manson were towers of strength at middle and put an iron front to the Queen's plungers. Bozo had the misfortune to get severely hurt in the head, suffering a slight concussion and was helped off the field. The old warrior was forcibly taken off, for although badly hurt he was insistent on continuing. It was the fighting spirit that the whole team exhibited and Manson like all the rest would have dropped in his tracks rather than have quit. He is reported to have recovered well and will be all right in a day or two. Gordon started at flying wing but had to retire when he was injured. Mickles taking his place. Both men turned in a good game and were strong in tackling and getting down under kicks. Blair justified the confidence placed in him and called his signals like a veteran. As can be seen, it is impossible to pick a star on the Red and White squad for no one was outstanding but all fought and gave their best to win. Spears, who went on for Manson played a great game for his first time in senior company.

The weather, which was excellent from a spectator's point of view brought out a record crowd, it being found necessary to erect seating capacity for five hundred more at the east end of the bleachers. The weather was ideal for the on-lookers but rather too warm for the players. At one-thirty the McGill rooters marched up to the Stadium headed by the Band. The band marched around the field playing McGill songs and were loudly applauded by the spectators. The Rooter's Band certainly showed a marked improvement over that of last year. Clad in Red and White sweaters and white ducks and lead by their chief Bob Logan, they marched around the field and looked as snappy as any professional musicians. Their playing was as good as their appearance and McGill has every reason to be proud of its Rooters Band. The Band also played several selections at half time and rendered the National Anthem just before the kick-off.

HALF TIME PERFORMANCE.

The spectators were also entertained by two whippet races, one before the game and one during half time. At (Continued on page four)

STUDENT JOURNALISM AT CAMBRIDGE AND OXFORD DESCRIBED

By the "New Student"

The Varsity (University of Toronto) asked Gerald Sparrow, one of the members of the visiting Cambridge debating team, for an article dealing with student journalism in Oxford and Cambridge.

Wrote Mr. Sparrow: "You ask me, sir, for my impressions of University Journalism in England. I pause to invent these impressions....."

"Now undergraduates in England are divisible into four divisions: 1. Heavily men who row and excel in athletics. 2. Lugubrious men who are learned and excel in exams. 3. Ordinary men. 4. And Journalists.

The weekly papers there are no dailies are, again, either (a) Aesthetes, who write the reviews and editorials, and (b) Funny Men, who fill in the intervening spaces.

"The papers at Oxford and Cambridge for there are many and all are in private hands - have nothing to do with the authorities, but are private enterprises. At each University there are two stable journals - one representing University thought and another Varsity thoughtfulness.

"At Cambridge, The Review is the organ of Orthodoxy and the Granta the Home of Heresy....."

"The Oxford and Cambridge press is a sensitive machine of public opinion and affords pleasure to those who write - and even to those who read."

TORONTO STUDENTS COULDN'T VOTE ON LIQUOR QUESTION

Although students of the University of Toronto were deprived of their votes in the liquor plebiscite, men and women of Ontario Agricultural College and Macdonald Institute, affiliated with Varsity, were allowed to exercise their franchise, as a result of the decision given by a Quelpi Judge.

The Quelpi Mercury says "Some two hundred students in attendance at the Ontario Agricultural College and Macdonald Institute, were registered at a Court of Revision, held at the O. A. C. recently and presided over by Judge Spotton, and were declared eligible to cast their ballots in the coming plebiscite.

"The question of whether or not the students were entitled to vote in Quelpi Township was decided by Judge Spotton in the affirmative. The point about which the argument centered was the residence rule. As the students attending the O. A. C. are in residence for seven months of the year, and those at Macdonald Institute for ten months, Judge Spotton came to the conclusion that they were rightly entitled to vote or College Heights.

The only students barred from voting here were those of the first year who have just recently begun their studies. The 'Freshies' of both the O. A. C. and Macdonald Institute have only been in residence for some three months, and if they wish to cast their ballots they will have to go to their homes to do so. It was understood that the students who had no vote here, and who wished to go home to record their ballot would be excused from classes while they were away."

THE TEAM.

There is only one thing to write about to-day. To fill this column with a long treatise on some deep, scholastic problem would be senseless, after last Saturday's battle at the Stadium. And though what we say about it may have been already said and thought by everyone who witnessed the encounter, we think it still should be put down here, simply as a tribute to the men of the senior squad and to the manner of their playing.

McGill teams of the past have been noted for their fighting spirit. They have been fighting teams. But none of them ever put up a more terrific fight against odds than did this year's team on Saturday. The fury of their attack against the Dominion champions sent the tri-colour's crown slipping dangerously, and practically broke the spell of Queen's two years' invincible supremacy. With the score against them they came down the field and went over for a touch-down, the second to be scored against Queen's in two years.

McGill's tradition of fighting football teams was continued. The McGill men played magnificently, displaying a courage and determination by which the onlookers could not help but be impressed. They gave everything they had. No one can question that. They fought and endured until the final whistle.

CONDENSED COMMENT.

Because of the generosity of those who attended Saturday's game, and the commendable part played by R. V. C. students, sufficient donations were received to ensure that the McGill band will go to Kingston this week-end. The financial barrier was completely raised. The performance of the instrument bearers at the game could scarcely be surpassed, and merits the support which the organization is receiving.

Although comparatively few could be aroused to enthusiasm over the result of the contest, Varsity won the Intercollegiate Golf Championship from McGill. The Toronto representatives, as well as winning first place, carry home with them the emblem of their superiority—the Ruttan Trophy.

BOOKS WHICH HARVARD MEN READ.

"What does the average Harvard undergraduate read?" Mr. Ewen MacIntyre, Jr. proprietor of the Community Book Shop, has written the following article giving his answer to this question.

What the undergraduate reads is determined more or less by several of four factors. A young man is governed in his choice of reading matter by compulsory election, environmental selection, suggested choice and natural preference. It is not necessary in this article to write of any but natural preferences.

There is a very great interest in days in the works of the modern sophisticates, Menckens, Nathan, Van Vechten, Machen, Dreiser and others. It would appear that these craftsmen appeal to young readers by placing on fine white paper in good black ink thoughts that stimulate the critical faculties.

Scarcely a day passes but some youth meanders into the book shop, picks up a volume of Mencken; "Friedrich," perhaps, or "A Book of Burlesques" reads a moment or two and with a chuckle concludes the purchase, to return a day or two later for others of this author's works. Arthur Machen, too, enjoys a lusty popularity and his books sell with astonishing frequency. Commencing with "Peter Whiffles" there has been a continued demand for Carl Van Vechten's novels. I imagine that there would be a great sale of Hicken's "The Green Carnation" were it possible now to find the book in stock.

A healthy attention is shown biography; standard works as well as modern and recent personal histories. Many copies of late and continuing "Outlines" in history, literature, science, art, etc., are sold. These books form a greater part of the present day student's library than may be imagined.

Books written by undergraduates and men recently out of college, command a goodly share of attention and have a ready sale. "Buzz" Henry's "Deceit" while not exactly in the best-seller class, creates no end of talk and is eagerly sought and read by undergraduates, not only in Cambridge but all over the country, so his publishers inform me.

One of the noticeable phrases of book-selling in late years is the extraordinary demand for literature on, about, for, and of the drama. Plays are read as never before. Good, bad, and indifferent plays are read and studied and discussed. Perhaps there is nothing that so marks a progressive book shop as the up-to-date-ness of selections devoted to drama.

The classics retain a promising prominence, too. There are so many very good libraries available, such as "Everyman's," "The Abbey Classics," "The Abbey Classics," "The Home University Library," "The Modern Library," "The World's Classics," "The Modern Student's Library," and others, that the undergraduate may and does acquire a representative collection of the best of the literature of all times at prices that impose no strain on the slenderest purses.

What does the undergraduate read? He reads everything and anything, but he burns the midnight mazda, tears his clothes, his hair and his dictionary while deeply immersed in the subtle fascination of—"The Green Word Puzzle Book."

STUDENTS EAGERLY AWAIT CONVERSAT

On Wednesday Evening the long-looked for conversat will take place, and it is not necessary to urge anybody to be present, as those who have attended former conversats, will vouch for their delightfulness, while those who are here for the first time must realize that this is a splendid opportunity for undergrads to get acquainted.

It has always been considered one of the outstanding social events of the season, and there is no reason why this year's conversat should not equal, if not surpass, those of former years.

NOTICES

ROWING CLUB, ATTENTION.
Mr. Mohrman, our prospective coach will be in the Rowing Room of the Union at five o'clock to-day, to meet all interested in rowing. Men who have never done any rowing, but who would like to take up this sport, as well as experienced rowers, are all welcome.

REDUCED RATES FOR KINGSTON TRIP

Definitely Announced That Band Will Go

Students are again reminded that the Student's Council is offering them every convenience for making the trip to Kingston next Saturday to see the game against Queen's, which ought to be a good one, judging from last Saturday's performance.

If more than 100 students can be induced to make the trip, a special train will be put on and will leave at a time most suited to those going.

The fare will be $9.20 return. On the return journey, which will be delayed to allow students to attend the dance on Saturday evening, berth accommodation may be had at the following rates: Upper $2.75. Upper 2.15.

The band is now able to make the trip, as the sum of $560 was raised by those selling favours at the game on Saturday.

IMPORTANT MEETING OF ROWING CLUB

Representatives from Faculties Were Elected

MR. MOHMANS

May Coach Club if Enough Are Interested

An important meeting of the Rowing Club was held in the Union on Friday at which certain officers for the coming year were elected and some special business was discussed. There was a large turn-out and all the elections were well contested.

David Logan, the president, occupied the chair and after stating the purpose of the meeting asked that a member of the faculty be elected as representative on the executive. Professor Carruthers, last year's representative, was unanimously re-elected. The election of representatives from the various faculties followed. J. G. Whitehead was elected Arts representative, Ring for Commerce, Walker for Dentistry and Medicine, and Gray for Science.

The club was sorry to learn from J. W. Murray that he would be unable to continue his duties as Secretary-Treasurer. Murray has been one of the most prominent members of the club since its formation and has been helpful not only in his position as Secretary-Treasurer but also through his expert knowledge of rowing. A vote of thanks for his services was unanimously passed. Ralph Tennant was elected his successor.

Alan MacNaughton and Jack Howie were chosen to form a committee to look after the clubhouse at Lakeside. The meeting was of the opinion that this clubhouse was the club's greatest asset and that every possible effort should be made to keep it in order and to interest the members in it. The newly elected committee decided to arrange an excursion to the new clubhouse next Saturday and asked that anyone desiring to make the trip should hand their names to either A. A. MacNaughton (Arts) or Howie (Med.) as soon as possible so that the necessary arrangements may be made.

Murray announced that steps were well under way towards the securing of a coach. Mr. Mohmans, who had coached some of the championship crews in Europe had agreed to coach the McGill men provided that he could be assured of a sufficient number of enthusiastic candidates. McGill would be exceptionally fortunate if they could secure Mr. Mohmans. He is an expert and was offered the position of coach at Penn State University but at the time he was not anxious to become a professional coach.

Mr. Mohmans will be in the rowing room in the Union attic at 5 to-day to meet all prospective candidates. The executive are urging all interested in rowing to be present so as to encourage the new coach.

M.S.P.E SENIORS WIN TENNIS CUP

Inter-Year Champions in Singles and Doubles

Saturday morning the M. S. P. E. Seniors ably demonstrated their tennis skill by winning from the Juniors in every match. Both years played up well and exhibited a splendid brand of tennis but the steady consistent play of the Seniors brought them victory.

The two matches of singles, one between Miss H. Tatlaw and Miss C. Ballard, and the other between Miss M. Robertson and Miss M. Booth were a particularly splendid exhibition of tennis. The respective scores were 6-2, 6-0 and 6-4, 6-3. The three matches of doubles which were played in the Hollow Courts were all hard fought but the seniors took the lead and kept it throughout the play. The Kemsit and Rutherford team especially played splendid, co-operative tennis.

This decided victory for the seniors gives to them the Inter-Year Tennis Cup.

In robust ages and in a more primitive society there used to be much popular interest in the sort of competition in which the prize went to the man who could dispose of the largest amount of food in a given time. A contest of that sort was organized in a mining town in the north of England. One competitor, a giant collier six feet in height and broad in proportion, succeeded in disposing of a leg of mutton, a plentiful supply of washed down with copious draughts of ale.

He was unanimously declared the winner and was being triumphantly escorted home when he turned to his admirers and said:

"Th, lads, say, don't say noyt o' this to my wif, or she won't gie me no mair."

ENGLISH RUGGER WON BY VARSITY

Toronto Defeated McGill Saturday 9-0

By a 9-0 score, Toronto Varsity's English Rugger team won their second victory over the McGill squad in Toronto on Saturday.

McGill improved as the game progressed, and in the second half held the winners to a single try. Varsity forced the play throughout and combined better than the Red and White.

At half-time the score stood 6-0 and Toronto's unconverted try in the second made the final count 9-0. Following are the teams:

McGILL	TORONTO
Full back	Pentelow
Cheeseman	Quarters
McInerney	Parker
Patterson	Morris
Bradshaw	Lewis
Evans	W. Russell
Halves
Carron	Batge
Ross	Wilkes

McDougall	Drayer
Hare	N. Russell
Walter	Jeckell
Brown	Curry
Lochead	Little
Blundell	Johnson
Roome	Lee
Wilson	Burpee

McGeun	Cameron

The McGill players remained in Toronto over the week-end and are playing the City of Toronto team to-day.

ATHLETIC INTERESTS OF MICHIGAN WOMEN

Women's activities on the campus are broadening their scope yearly in proportion to the increasing number of Michigan women. The Women's Athletic association of today is an organization of 700 members and a range of activities that satisfies the most interested woman in athletics. Working in cooperation with the physical education staff, the Women's Athletic association sponsors a variety of activities.

The Women's Athletic association has for its purpose the control and direction of all the athletic activities of the women of the University, the maintenance of a high standard of sportsmanship, and physical efficiency. It attempts to promote the interests of the whole, rather than a part of the women, and to foster the spirit of play as a socializing and educational factor. It concerns itself with the interests of every woman in the University and not only those who are particularly interested in athletics.

Membership in the Women's Athletic association is open to every woman on the campus. A woman may become an associate member of W. A. A. by paying 25 cents and adding her name to the role of associate members. This entitles her to free admittance to all the class and intra-mural games, to the sprats, banquets, and meetings.

As it is one of the aims of the W. A. A. to encourage women to be more active in the line of sports, honor points are given for participation in sports organized by the University and others that are carried out under the supervision of the W. A. A. The honor point system gives an additional impetus to competition in all sports. Honor points are given for making teams, for "placing" in certain meets and for other specialized work. When sufficient honors have been earned, arm-bands, pins, and sweaters are the rewards. It is necessary to become an associate member of W. A. A. in order to earn honor points. Active membership is open to those who have earned at least 100 honor points. The annual dues for active membership are $1.00, as in the case of those who become active members during the same year they are associate members. Active membership entitles a woman to full privileges in the association, including the right to vote.

The administration of the association is conducted by an executive board, consisting of a president, vice president, secretary, treasurer, class representative, a recorder of points, managers of various sports, and a publicity manager. The heads of the physical education department are advisory members of the board. The board meets every other week and conducts all the constructive work of the W. A. A.

During the year, there are six major sports: archery, basket ball, baseball, hockey, tennis, and fencing. In any of these sports, a place on the first team offers 100 points, on the squad, 25 points, on the second team 10 points.

As intercollegiate games are barred to the women of this University, inter-class and intra-mural games receive centered on intercollegiate games. The three major sports in interclass competition are basketball, baseball, and hockey. To the champions of each sport of the intra-mural com-

Saturday, Oct. 25, 1924.
Editor, McGill Daily.

Dear Sir,—Saturday's game of rug-by between Queen's and McGill was no disgrace to McGill men. To say that their defeat was a glorious one only describes a few of the proud feelings that most of the spectators had as they saw the McGill men battling like warriors.

There were other features of the game, however which did not reflect much credit on our college. The humorous exhibition at half-time would have been better if it had been left out of the programme altogether. I do not refer to the whippet race nor to the enterprise of the R. V. C. ladies. But I refer to the drinking scenes and the questionable taxi-cab scene, which, to say the least, must have been very humiliating to those decent people who watched the affair.

It's too bad that McGill men are permitted to behave womanhood in this manner, nor to say anything of the effects such scenes have on the minds of hundreds of boys.

While writing I would also like to remind the authorities whose duty it is to control the crowds that seats in the bleachers should be reserved for those who enter the rosters' parade. This was not successfully handled at the game last Saturday.

In closing it is fitting to pay tribute to the Rosters' and and thank them for the part they played. Also to thank you, sir, for the space taken by this letter.

Yours Truly,
J. M. C. DUCKWORTH,
Arts '27.

test, a cup is awarded. Kappa Kappa Gamma now holds the cup for basketball. Delta Gamma the basketball cup, and Betsy Barbour the baseball cup. Whenever these cups have been defended successfully for two years, they will become permanent property of the houses holding them.

Practice for the various sports is begun early in the year and every organized house may take part in the intra-mural sports. It has been found inadvisable for under-graduates to play on both house and varsity teams, and when a choice must be made between house and class teams, it is customary for the class team to receive the athletic support of the members. These intra-mural games although recently introduced, have aroused a spirit of friendly rivalry between organized houses.

There is a scholastic requirement for membership on a team. At least 15 honor points for scholastic work and a "C" average is a necessity. This requirement serves as a check to the woman, who might otherwise neglect her studies for athletics, and spurs her to better grades so that she may make a team.

Tennis is becoming more popular. Every year greater numbers enroll for the fall tennis tournament. The entries are mainly from the freshman class, although upperclass women form a large part of the entries. The matches are played off with great rapidity and there are few defaults as the rules are more stringent year by year. The tennis courts are kept in good condition and there is a practice court for the use of players who desire to develop certain strokes. Plans for a tennis club are being perfected.

A new sport, to be introduced in the winter term, is fencing. At the close of the season a tournament similar to the tennis tournament will be held. This year, a complete reorganization of the work in fencing is planned so that fencing will be on the same

CHESS CLUB MEETS TO-DAY

Activities for Coming Year to Be Discussed

The weekly meeting of the McGill Chess Club takes place this afternoon in the Lounge Room of the Union. Several important problems are to be discussed including the various arrangements for the team which is to play in Class "B" of the Montreal Chess League representing McGill.

The Chess Club enters into many activities during the year and among the many plans in view for the coming season are the annual popular professors vs students matches, the local tournament, and chess exhibitions and talks by the experts in the game around college.

The membership has been greatly increased this year partly due to the interest taken by many freshmen in the game and the executive extends an invitation to all students who can play chess to come down and join up. This afternoon is the last opportunity for those who wish to enter the McGill team to get into the elimination contests. Names will be accepted by the secretary at the meeting to-day.

As the major sports, and honor points will be given. Dancing teams will be formed with tryouts on a condition for membership. The members of these dancing teams will give an exhibition at the annual convention of the Schoolmasters' club. This exhibition consists of folk dancing, clogging, and aesthetic dancing.

In addition to the work in the major sports, students may earn honor points by participation in swimming meets, rifle practice, skating, skiing, horseback riding, golfing, and paddling.

Every Saturday ten mile hikes are conducted by members of the W.A.A. board. These hikes start from Barbour gymnasium. Different routes are chosen each time and a Wanderers' club is proposed for this year. In the winter, a track meet is held and this also offers the opportunity for keen competition.

Besides the sponsoring of sports, the W.A.A. is active in certain social activities. Lantern night, which has been traditional, is conducted by the W.A.A. It is preceded in the afternoon by field day when all teams play their final games. These are followed by a picnic supper on the hillside at Palmer field, after which the Freshmen Pageant is presented. The Pageant, becoming more ambitious every year, features interpretative dancing and pantomime. After the Pageant the lantern procession forms. The seniors, wearing caps and gowns, march first, carrying lighted lanterns, the sophomores carry decorated hoops and the juniors and freshmen complete the line to form an "M". The lantern song is sung and the seniors pass their lanterns to the juniors as a symbol that they are passing their knowledge to the juniors to light them through their senior year.

Recently, the W.A.A. have painted and repainted the field house at Palmer field. The first floor has been made into one large room and furnished with rugs, easy chairs, and a stove. On the second floor are the dressing room, equipped with benches and mirrors, and a store room. This building is for the use of the members of the association.

The W.A.A. reaching farther than the Michigan campus. It is a member of the Athletic Conference of American College Women, which has for its purpose, the furthering of athletic interests and activities for women in American colleges. This organization originated in the fall of 1918 when the Women's Athletic association of the University of Wisconsin decided that they would like to discuss association problems with other similar associations. After communication with universities and colleges in the Middle and Far-west, they found that twenty of them favored an opportunity to meet and take part in such a discussion. Wisconsin then made plans for the meeting, which took place March 9, 10 and 11, 1917 and this marked the beginning of the present Athletic Conference of American College Women. Through the

THE IMPERIAL

Dancing, singing and comedy are the outstanding features of the Imperial bill this week. Wm. Seabury, Grand Master of the Dance, has produced a revue which he has named "Frisco", being a contraction and a combination of frivolity and frolic. Mr. Seabury is ably assisted by Dorothy Hathaway and Richard Conn. Syncopated songs given super-elevation by Combe and Nevens, two men who style themselves "Those Syncopated Entertainers," and they are entertainers and syncopators.

Helen Hamilton and Jack Barnes are entertaining from the sheer power of magnetic personality and an innate sense of humor. They are in the class of performers who are naturally humorous and distinguished from actors trying to be funny and only succeeding in making theatre-goers conscious of forced effort. Their semi-pantomime bit as a bride and bridegroom is and encore that really is worth while demanding. "Lark and Now", a love story of yesterday and to-day is a Lewis and Gordon sketch presented by a capable cast of players. Garth and Cooper have their own staff of song writers. They sing special club songs and sing them well they do both voice and the knack of putting their work over. The Pederson Bros., comedy aerial artists, have been representatives in their line of work for many years during their professional careers, they have appeared everywhere in the world. The feature of the performance is the famous Pederson trick, a circular descent of a tall upright by a too hold with the body in a horizontal position.

"Along Came Ruth", with Viola Dana, Tully Marshall, Walter Hiers and Gale Henry, is the picture presentation for the week.

Prof: "Why, don't you know that it isn't good style to scratch your back on the door post that way?"

Soph: "Pardon me, I'm not scratching my back, merely sharpening my shoulder blades."

ILLINOI SOCKLESS BECAUSE OF HEAT

When the Illinois football team trotted on the field for the game with Michigan, wearing no socks, it was merely to offset the weather conditions, according to Coach Robert Zuppke.

No thought of making the perspiring slippery legs of the Illini backs harder to hold, entered into the scheme.

"On a warm day heavy wool socks tend to depress a team and make it sluggish; while the cold air striking the bare perspiring legs causes the perspiration to evaporate and stimulates a man," said Coach Zuppke in explanation of the sockless Illini.

The Call Of The Wild
O some may long for the soothing touch
Of lavender, cream or mauve,
But the ties I wear must possess the glare
Of a red hot kitchen stove.
The books I read and the life I lead
Are sensible, sane and mild,
I like calm hats and I don't wear spats,
But I want my neckties wild.
Give me a wild tie, brother,
One with a comic urge!
A tie that will swear, and rip and tear,
When it sees my old blue serge.
O some will say that a gent's cravat
Should only be seen, not heard,
But I want a tie that will make men cry,
And render their vision blurred.
I yearn, I long, for a tie so strong,
It will take two men to tie it.
If such there be, just show it to me,
Whatever the price, I'll buy it.
Give me a wild tie, brother,
One with a lot of sins,
A tie that will blaze, in a hectic haze,
Down where the vest begins.

RED AND WHITE WARRIORS HELD QUEEN'S
half time a burlesque was enacted that although rather out of the bounds of propriety, was rather amusing, as such things often are. King Arthur or some equally jovial royal sovereign held court among several beer bottles in between a Knight from Kingston and centre field, while a joust was held another from "ye olde McGill." Both had their colours displayed on a magnificent robe that garbed their fiery chargers. The local knight succeeded in unhorsing his rival and won the hand of the fair daughter of the King. They drove away in a taxi which drove on the field in a most remarkable manner and was rather an unusual sight. There was more but—well the less said the better.
Jerry the McGill mascot led the team on the field and a few minutes after the Queen's team made its appearance. Both teams were accorded a great welcome. Bob Isbester of Hamilton refereed and Joe O'Brien was umpire. The referee had a hard game on his hands and imposed many penalties, although many of his decisions were by no means popular with the crowd.
Play by Play
Philpotts kicked off to Batstone who returned. Hughes kicked back after McGill had lost five yards from an off-side and Queens had possession on their own thirty yard line. Queens went through for yards on the first down but were penalized for offside on the next down. McGill got the ball on the opponents' forty yards line and Hughes kicked to Leadley who was forced to rouse for the first point of the game. McGill, 1. Queens, 0. Queens failed to make yards and Leadley kicked. Hughes returned and Leadley fumbled but recovered on his own five yard line. Reynolds was injured but continued. Leadley kicked off of danger and Hanna made five yards on the first down. Batstone fumbled Hughes' kick, and Cameron fell on the ball. An exchange of kicks followed and Batstone and Leadley made 25 yards on an end run. Both lines were holding well and both teams were forced to resort to kicking. McGill lost 15 yards on an off-side and Leadley tied the score when he kicked for a rouge. McGill, 1; Queens, 1.
Second Quarter
The second quarter began with Queens in possession in centre field. Leadley kicked from the 45 yard line and Hanna was forced to rouse. Hughes kicked to Batstone who fumbled for the third time. Hanna ran back a kick 25 yards. Queens got the ball on an exchange of kicks but lost it again for holding. McGill had possession on the 25 yard line and in a good position to score. McGill felt the need for a drop kicker at the point as Hughes was only able to kick for a rouge, again tying the score. Heavy line bucking by both teams resulted in very little gaining and kicking was the order of the day. Batstone and Leadley pulled off another end run that netted 20 yards. Leadley kicked a drop from 20 yard line and gave his team a good lead. Philpotts kicked off to Batstone who returned. Leadley returned Hughes' punt, and Cameron was downed on his own 8 yard line. Batstone fumbled again and Philpotts fell on the ball. Hughes kicked 65 yards for a rouge the ball going up into the bushes at the end of the field. The score at half time stood; Queens, 5; McGill, 2.
Third Quarter
Queens kicked off and Hughes returned. Joe Cameron recovered a fumble when Leadley kicked. Hughes kicked on the second down to Batstone, but McGill got the ball a moment later when Lewis fired it over Leadley's head. Hughes kicked after McGill lost a down on an off-side. McKelvey started an end run and just as he was tackled, was used to Leadley who ran 50 yards for touch. Queens, 10; McGill, 3. The kick was at too great an angle to convert. McGill got possession when Gordon fell on a loose ball that Batstone and fumbled. Boucher was injured but kept in the game. Batstone was hurt after a hard tackle and forced to retire. He was loudly applauded by the spectators. Chantler went on in his place and

WRIGHT WON TENNIS TITLE
McGill Man Decisively Defeated Dave Morrice
Yesterday the victor in the McGill Tennis Tournament and the Inter-collegiate Series, Jack Wright, obtained more laurels for himself when he won the Canadian Indoor Tennis Championship.
Wright, who was also a member of the Canadian Davis Cup Team which defeated the team from Cuba and secured the endurance of the Japanese to the utmost, showed his usual fine form when he defeated Dave Morrice, a recent graduate of McGill in straight sets 6-1, 6-2, 6-1.
Morrice tried his hardest to obtain the title in the first set, but Wright with his accurate placing and brilliant net work, generally had the better of the situation, and the final score showed a decisive defeat for Morrice who so recently eliminated Crocker in the same series.

finishing line and stepped, forgetting that a whole circuit of the quarter mile track yet remained to be covered. Several, realizing that their mistake could not affect the interfaculty total, made their way to the showers, while others pounded around the football field after all but the officials had left.
Medicine's score was twenty-three; that of Science two more. The method of counting was that the first four men from each faculty should add the number of their positions in the race, the team with the lowest total being declared Champions. Rubins, Clement, Brodie and Elliot were the four doctors who beat Brain, Airey, Kerr and Calder of Science by such a narrow margin.
Every man who entered the race, and all others interested, are requested to attend a Harrier meeting in the Field House this afternoon at five o'clock. The Harrier season is by no means over for those who failed to make the team. It is hoped to have at least ten McGill men in the Dunlop road race on November 23rd, and there are several other opportunities for new comers to distinguish themselves. The executive are anxious that every member should celebrated his advent by making 20 yards around the end. McGill got the ball on an offside and kicked to Queens' ten yard line. Cameron recovered a fumble. Bozo Munson was badly hurt and was helped off the field. Bruce had a fumble and was shut down. Spears taking his place. Moore grabbed Hughes' kick, and Queens secured. Leadley kicked to McGill's 20 yard line. G. McKelvey was put off by the referee for rough tactics, and protested strongly. The quarter ended Queens 10; McGill, 3.

Last Quarter
On an exchange of kicks Queens got possession and Leadley kicked another beautiful drop from the 30 yard line. Philpotts kicked off, and Leadley caught the kick. Thomas was injured but continued. McGill got the ball and tried an on-side kick. Spears got the ball on a nice play by the McGill middle. McGill immediately tried another on-side kick, which worked well, Philpotts getting the ball. Batstone came on again as the situation began to look serious for Queens. Another on-side kick was successful, and McGill got possession 15 yards out. The stands howled for a touch. Hanna made yards in two bucks, and on the next down went over for a touch. The kick to convert went wide. Queens, 13; McGill, 8.
McGill were striving hard to even the score, and there were only a few minutes to go. However, the Queens backs kept the ball in the McGill territory, and the game ended with Queens, 13; McGill, 8.

INAUGURATE A GAME CALLED SPEEDBALL
New York, Oct. 26 (by the New Student)—Speedball, a new game formed of a mixture of football and soccer, has been established as a regular intramural sport at Missouri. The game is played on a regulation field and the main difference between the new game and football is in the scoring.
A field goal is a ground ball kicked between the goal posts and below the cross-bar, counting three points. A touchdown may be scored by the completion of a forward pass from the field of play into the end one and counts two points. A drop kick scores one point.
Fouls are penalized by allowing the team fouled a free kick from the place where the foul is made. The game is played with eleven men on a side.

THE FADING CANDLE
Progress in scientific discoveries is doubtless useful and salutary, but it is also fearfully unromantic. This week at Menlo Park, which is Mr. Edison's euphemistic name for his principal factory, the snuffing out of the candle as a source of illumination is to be celebrated by a blaze of (Edison) mazda lamps. It is always melancholy to witness the eclipse of the traditional, and consequently rather sentimental, appurtenances of a passing age by the inventions of a more modern, more brilliantly practical era.
It is in literature that the loss of the candle will be most keenly felt. Shakespeare will have to be revised, and Portia made to say: "How far that glowing mazda throws its beams." Since the coming generation will never have seen a candle except as a painful substitute for electricity, ancient authors will have to be brought up to date, or the favorite similes of candles and oil will not be understood. Such parables as that of the foolish virgin, who used up too soon all the oil for their lamps will lose all their lamp will lose all their significance. "But Mother," the modern precocity will say "why didn't they get new batteries for their flashlights at the drug store?"
As if in case the smart of the passing, electric light companies has rated their bulbs as so many candle power each, but even that does not prevent them from chanting in unison the words of Macheh: "Out, out, brief candle!"

continue to practise. If a runner gives up this sport until next autumn, he will then be in just the position he is at present, with no more chance of making the 1925 team than he has of representing McGill in the Inter-collegiate meet next Saturday.
It is very probable that Rubin, Goforth, Brain and Airey will make the trip to Kingston, but the names of the last two members of the team have not been definitely announced. A second race over the same course on Tuesday may be necessary to decide on the Club's final choice.
Those who entered Saturday's race are again asked to continue to practice. They were G. A. Crimmon (C), T. Brown (M), M. Brodie (M), T. Kerr (S), G. Brain (S), H. Airey (S), T. Boness (D), W. B. Thompson (A), W. H. Moore (S), W. Row (S), W. Goforth (A), J. E. Innes (A), H. W. Clement (M), H. M. Brock (S), W. A. Ketchen (S), F. Calder (S), G. Chalm (M), R. W. Tibbin (M), H. L. Elliot (M), J. FIRST MEETING OF SOCIETE FRANCAISE
Splendid Opportunity for Improvement in French Conversation
One of the most popular clubs in the R. V. will throw open its doors to all those interested in French on Thursday next at 4 o'clock in the Common Room.
A French talk from some celebrity (name not yet known) will form the first part of a unique programme. It is assured that this will be a most interesting address, as well as comprehensible to those whose knowledge of French is slight.
Musical selections by well-known students will follow. To all freshettes who do not know the musical talent of some of the upper-classmen, this part of the programme will prove most enlightening.
A fascinating game will be the next item of importance. Speaking in French to such celebrities as Napoleon, Magaret Currie, etc. should prove most entertaining and amusing. Little knowledge of French will be required, merely, sharp wits are needed.
Then finally, tea and ice-cream will be served. So all Freshmen Sophomores, Juniors, Seniors, are expected to make use of this splendid opportunity to improve their French and at the same time, enjoy yourselves. The importance of knowing French cannot be over-estimated; it is extremely useful in business, social activities, travelling and in reading literature.

MAKING MYSTERIES
It is curious that most people feel they must apologize for a love of mystery stories. They feel somehow that a good detective story is not "literary," that it is a sort of Sunday-supplement intruded into a cultured society of books. And yet these same people say that it is proper to read Lewis Carroll because he is a relaxation for the mind. Why this should be considered a proper answer is another mystery, for it takes a good deal of thinking to understand "Through the Looking Glass", but a detective story writer does all reader's thinking for him.
Detective stories are really the only form of literature which strikes a common chord in the hearts of all readers. They are read by the intelligentsia, the middle classes, and the great unwashed. Under the circumstances, it is strange that there are so few good mystery stories. Sir Conan Doyle has deserted Sherlock Holmes for spiritualism. Cyril McNeile puts out a good "Bull-Dog Drummond" story every now and then, but not often enough. There are quite a few books put out with such appetizing titles as "The Red House Mystery", but they are not mysterious. The production of one of the most delightful and fascinating kinds of literature seems to be at a standstill, and a mystified public would like to know why.
In this connection the comment of an English reviewer is interesting. He wants to know why no book has ever been written in which it is proved that the man to whom all the evidence, circumstantial, testimonial and otherwise, points, really committed the crime.
—Harvard Crimmon.

A TIRADE
Much has been said and written, in college annals, at least, about the professors who hold their classes over time. It is a common and pernicious habit among faculty members. Those classes on time. Excuses are seldom who persist in the offense are many.
The students are expected to be in acceptable. These same exacting professors, will, however, often hold their classes as much as five minutes over time. This is not playing fair. The inconvenience to the students is great. When the whistle blows, the hour is over. Professors would do well to remember this.—The University Daily Kansan.

LOVE.
Sweetheart, when I go to bed,
But wake up in the tub instead
With hat still resting on my head
You'd say that I loved.
And when I sit all day and dream,
And pour the coffee into the cream
And try to milk the mule, I would seem
To you that I loved.
But yet, when I come home so late,
With several hats astride my pate,
And place my shoes upon the grate,
That isn't love.
